MIDD FALLS BEFORE GREEN AND GOLD 7-0

The Blue and White is Outclassed by Strong Vermont Team on Porter Field — Remarkable Work by Palmer Holds Home Team Scoreless

After making a good showing against some of the best college nines in New England this season, the Middlebury team fell down before U. V. M. last Saturday, losing a ragged game 7-0. Palmer's excellent pitching and good work in tight places, tho handicapped by a sprained thumb, combined with the heavy hitting by U. V. M. at critical moments, contributed to Middlebury's defeat. Maul played a star game for Middlebury, ably assisted by Courtney and Bartlett.

Except for a strong wind blowing, the day was ideal for baseball, the first good weather for a home game this season. A large crowd turned out to see the game, the grandstand and bleachers being well filled. The cheering sections of Vermont and Middlebury were considerably depleted because of the number of students who have left for military duty.

Parker in the pitcher's box began the game for Middlebury and U. V. M. gained four runs from him in the first five innings, three of them being due to the poor support of the team.

Crippen replaced Parker in the sixth inning and held U. V. M. to its previous score until the ninth when Vermont made three more runs.

In the first inning Parker walked Hamilton, Berry sacrificed, Hamilton reaching second. Courtney stopped Plumb's liner to left. Bowman struck out but reached first on Deufel's muff and wild throw, Hamilton coming home and Bowman reaching second. Pike, however, struck out and Middlebury went to bat.

Maul struck out, Dewhirst got a hit over second but was caught off first and Bartlett was struck out.

The second run for Vermont came in the second inning, Powers taking his base on balls and scoring on Bell's triple to left center.

In the last of the second Deufel walked, stole second and reached third on Freeland's sacrifice, but Pollard flied out, and Ahern was out second to first.

The third inning opened for Vermont with Berry walking, Deufel caught Plumb's foul, Bownan got a single, Berry going to third. Then Maul made the sensational double play of the game unassisted, when he caught Pike's hot liner and beating Berry to the bag, gained a double out.

Middlebury's best chance came in her half of the third. Parker struck out, but Courtney was passed to first, Powers dropped Maul's drive to left and Dewhirst walked, filling the bases. The Middlebury rooters called for a home run clout, and, with Bartlett and Deufel due in the batting order, Midd's stock looked good, but Palmer struck out Bartlett and Deufel's fly to center was caught and Midd's chance was gone.

The fourth inning was short. Maul threw Powers out at first after an

MRS. SWIFT TALKS ON WOMAN'S SERVICE

Work of National League for Woman's Service Outlined by Mrs. Charles Swift Before the College Women.

Monday afternoon, Mrs. Charles Swift of the National League for Woman's Service spoke to the girls of the college on their part in the great crisis. Mrs. Swift, who is the director for Addison County, answered the question "What does the government need from its women?" She said that when the great preparedness wave swept over the country Miss Parker of the National League went to England to learn what she could from the experiences of the English women. The greatest lesson that they have to teach us is, "Register all of your women," that you may be able to call on them more readily. Several years before the war, a Volunteer Aid Department was formed in England, and this lived and thrived in spite of the ridicule and jests of which it was the butt. Since England entered the war this organization has been of incalculable value, 60,000 well-trained women being immediately at their country's service. In our own country the National League of Woman's Service seeks to give each her bit to do, the one essential being what one does, not who one is. The League is working to meet the social problem of war as well as the industrial. The very splendid work which has already been done in Hartford and Philadelphia is the best demonstration of the practical nature of the League. In closing, Mrs. Swift told of the simple heroism of the English women in the munitions factory who sang army songs while a Zeppelin, hovering above, was seeking to destroy the building. Mrs. Swift is soon to go to New York on further business concerning the League, and on her return will address the girls again.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

The regular Y. W. C. A. meeting held Thursday, May 17, was devoted to a Silver Bay Rally and to the report given by Miss Cornelia Wheeler of Burlington who represented the University of Vermont and Middlebury at the Northeastern Field Convention in New York. Miss Wheeler told briefly of the purposes and work of the conference, including plans for the formation of Cabinet Training Councils. Following her talk, Marina Holmes led an enthusiastic Silver Bay rally in which many of the girls who have attended that conference took part, telling of the practical value they received from the experience.

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet has subscribed for the Association Monthly which has proved very helpful. Anyone desiring to read it may procure copies from Ruth Hesselgrave.

The following delegates have already been elected to go to Silver Bay: Ruth Hesselgrave' 18, Elsie Foote '18, Dorothy Brown '18, Ruth Holland '19, Margaret Shay '19, Mildred Hubbard '20, and Ruth Cambridge '20.

DONALD OBER WRITES INTERESTING LETTER

Former Middlebury Student Tells of His Experiences in Paris—Now in Franco-Serbian Field Hospital at Saloniki.

The following letter, taken from the Nashua (N. H.) Telegraph of April 17, was sent by Donald Ober ex-'18 and is very interesting in its description of the conditions in Paris at the present time. Ober is with the Franco-Serbian field hospital.

March 11, 1917.

Dear Everybody:

We anchored at Bordeaux about 4 o'clock Saturday, March 31, and after driving about the town on top of a bus in an open carriage which four of us hired for a franc apiece, we took an express for Paris at 8:50 p. m. We were supposed to travel second class, but all the second class apartments were full so we were allowed to ride in a first class apartment. We were very comfortable at first, but at every station soldiers got on and we decided to be decent and not force them to stand in the aisles, so we let four of them in and rode like sardines all night.

We arrived in Paris about 9 the next morning, and after a "petit" breakfast in a little restaurant went to the hotel which Miss Van Norden had instructed me to go to in the telegram which I received when the pilot came on. I slept till dinner time Sunday night then went over to the Hotel du Palais which is a sort of boarding house for the Norton Ambulance men, and where most of my friends were. I went to Morgen Garjes Monday, and got my letter telling me how to get my papers to the Ministre de Guerre, etc. Miss Van Norden is at Saloniki now. I went to the War Office, and with the aid of a military pass, which I found in the letter, I was shown up at once and very courteously received.

I was told that my papers would be ready in a few days, and I was glad of the excuse to be in Paris for a few days. Apparently no one is starving here, though the courses have been reduced to two or three in the hotels, and butter is served but twice a day. The restaurants close at 9:30 and there are no theatres or opera performances except on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and these close at 11 p. m. No liquor is being served after 9:30. The streets are very dimly lighted at night, and all the lights in buildings go out at 11 p. m., so that everyone has to use candles after that hour. In spite of these precautions and economies, Paris is still a very gay place, with thousands of English and French officers on leave from the front and keen for pleasure and excitement after the strain of trench life French "poilus", many of them cripples, also, and apparently millions of pretty women. The French officers still wear plenty of finery when on pleasure bent and red pantaloons, blue coats and gold lace are much in evidence.

Many of the public buildings are being

MIDD TIES WITH HOLY CROSS FOR 4TH PLACE

Lee and Jones do Excellent work on Tech Field at New England Intercollegiates—Darby First in First Heat of 220 But Fails to Place in the Finals.

In considering the significance of the achievement of the Middlebury track team in tieing with Holy Cross for fourth place on April 19 at the Intercollegiate Track Meet at M. I. T., it will be interesting to make a brief survey of Middlebury's progress in track events since 1900. In this year, a meet was held at Middlebury in which several colleges participated. During the next few years little was done, but in 1907 inter-class track meets were held, and in 1910 the first varsity team was formed with Robert Ryder '10 as captain and A. B. King '12 as manager. A meet was held in that year, and for several succeeding years, with St. Lawrence. During this period an endeavor was made to establish relations with Vermont, but the attempt failed. Since that time the importance of track has steadily increased among the athletic activities here.

Under Captain Kron '15 for the season of 1914-'15, the track team showed steady improvement, the season of 1915 being the most successful up to that time. The team made a creditable showing at the New England Intercollegiates, defeated R. P. I. and St. Lawrence, but lost to U. V. M., scoring, however, 204 1-2 points to her opponents' 160 1-2.

The season of 1916 was still more successful, Middlebury winning her three dual meets, defeating R. P. I. and St. Lawrence and downing her old rival, Vermont, by a substantial margin in an exciting contest. At the New England Intercollegiates Jones took second in the two mile, giving Middlebury sixth place at the meet, thus scoring above Amherst and Bowdoin. For these successes much credit is due to the untiring efforts of Capt. Kron, Captain Lamere, and Coaches Jones and Holmes.

The outbreak of the war has broken up the present track season, several dates having been canceled; but in spite of all handicaps, Midd. succeeded in defeating Trinity during Junior Week, though by a narrow margin. The fact that only eight of the seventeen colleges holding membership in the N. E. I. were represented at Tech Field last Saturday is in no way detrimental to Middlebury's credit since she has suffered in the loss of men fully as heavily as any other college. Middlebury's work at the 1917 Intercollegiates is creditable in a high degree. Manager Mason reports that the men worked hard for the points they won. The combined efforts of Lee '17 and Jones '19 gave to Middlebury eight points which tied us for fourth place with Holy Cross. Lee, by securing fourth in the pole vault and third in the high hurdles, gained three points, while Jones took second in the mile and third in the two mile, completing the eight points. The hard race run in the mile is responsible for the failure

The Campus a Weekly?

During the past year The Campus has been preparing to materially raise the quality of its work and secure a firmer backing. It has been the growing sentiment of the student body that the college paper should be of a grade more worthy of the institution which it is supposed to represent, and on the other hand, to offer it a more substantial support. All good things come slowly and require a great deal of careful preparation to insure success. We have attempted to do this by making the best use of the materials at hand and in this way convince our constituents that we could and would do better if we had the opportunity.

Aside from all this preparation we have been confronted with the necessity of definitely meeting our financial obligations. This has recently been brought to a head by the transfer of the printing establishment which serves The Campus to new owners who naturally cannot live on sentiment alone. We are using the only effectual means in our power to liquidate this heavy debt and at the same time establish The Campus on a desirably firm basis.

On Tuesday evening, May 15, the following petition was acted on by the men's college at a meeting of the Union and was passed by a unanimous vote of that body.

"We, the undersigned members of the student body of Middlebury College, in view of the necessary expenses connected with the publication of The Middlebury Campus, and the uncertain revenue derived from voluntary subscriptions on the part of the members of the student body, and in view of the fact that The Campus is a publication representing the entire student body, do hereby petition the faculty to include in the regular semester bill, for each semester of the college year, the sum of one dollar ($1.00) as the subscription price to The Campus for that semester; and, in view of this concession, it shall be agreed that The Campus be published weekly throughout the college year."

On the following day the same petition was acted on by the Student Government of the women's college and likewise passed that body unanimously. It has since been signed individually by nearly every member of the student body. These demands seem small in comparison with similar demands made in the last few years by other organizations of the college which have been in no sense more representative of the entire college. It is regrettable that such a recourse is found necessary to publish a suitable college paper, yet many institutions much larger than Middlebury have met a similar problem in the same way. The board labors week in and week out to serve the college, and we ask in return only a reasonable support in our endeavors. If we are refused our request, we can make no promises for the future, especially in this time of disturbance and upheaval. If the work which we are attempting to do is not worth the demand which we make in return, it is high time that we found it out and ceased to try to do that which is practically impossible under the present circumstances.

Japanese Operetta on June 1.

Friday evening, June 1, at 8 o'clock, the Women's Musical Association will present the Japanese operetta, "The Japanese Girl," in the Music Hall. The solo parts are taken by the Misses Linnell, Harris, Janet Johnson, Frary, Begiebing, Alger, and Kempton. Professor Hathaway has spent much time and effort in rehearsing the operetta and the dancers have been trained by Mrs. Noble so that the success of the affair is assured. An admission of twenty-five cents will be charged.

Union Meeting.

An important meeting of the Union was held in the Hepburn social hall, Tuesday evening, May 15. After the reports of various committees had been submitted and accepted, a petition addressed to the faculty of the college was presented by the editor of The Campus, requesting that in view of the uncertain revenue derived from voluntary subscriptions, the subscription price of one dollar for each semester be placed upon the term bill at the beginning of each semester and thus be collected from every student. In return for this concession the paper would be published weekly. The petition was adopted by a unanimous vote, and immediately circulated for signatures. The Campus board has been laboring under the burden of a heavy debt, much of which was a legacy from the former inefficient system of management, and at this meeting the sentiment was expressed that the paper deserves the whole-hearted support of the student body.

It was decided to hold a rally Friday evening in the preparation for the game with U. V. M. on Saturday. Mr. Lang was appointed to arrange the program for the evening.

Captain Knight and other officers of the military company commented upon the small attendance at the drills and urged the men to turn out promptly and regularly as a matter of patriotic duty. Most of the men in college will be subject to the draft, and any training which they get now will stand them in good stead when they are called into active service. The freshmen were reminded that for them drill is now required, taking the place of the usual gymnasium classes.

It was voted to have cheer practice every morning after chapel until Saturday, and to have tryouts for assistant cheer leaders held at these times, the head cheer leaders to pick two assistants as a result of the tryouts.

Banshee Entertainment.

On Friday evening, May 18, under the direction of the Banshee Pledgelings, the women of the college were given a glimpse into "Shadowland." This proved to be a cannibal island,—where chiefs sigh for missionary flesh and where a shipwrecked white man is given a cold reception when he is found to be the thinnest man on earth. For what use has a cannibal for a circus freak? But even on cannibal islands there are maidens who will save a hero's life and marry him, too. So it proved in this case. When the cannibal maid and beau hero were happily married there appeared in Shadowland the senior Banshees, one by one, all in familiar silhouette and impersonated by their junior sisters. Miss Elsie Foote gave two very delightful readings.

The entertainment was well attended. Proceeds will go to swell the Silver Bay fund.

Student Government Representatives.

This past week, the junior, sophomore, and freshmen women have held class meetings to elect representatives to the Student Government Council. The following persons were elected: Helen Clift '18, Margaret Shay '19, and Florence Millard '20.

A Student Government meeting was held in the Hemicycle on Wednesday, May 16. Reports of the past year were read and new officers were installed. In the absence of the new President, Lucy Smith, Marguerite Jones, the vice-president, presided. A motion was made to have The Campus fee of $1.00 each semester added to the semester bills, beginning with next year. This was passed by a unanimous vote.

Alumni Notes.

'04. Rev. William H. Hammersley has been transferred from Mechanicville N. Y., to the Methodist church at North Adams, Mass.

Word has been received that Rev. Henry M. Goddard of the class of 1890 died in a hospital in Boston, Saturday, May 12. Mr. Goddard went to the hospital a short time ago for an operation, but it was not understood here that his condition was serious.

After graduation from Middlebury Mr. Goddard attended the Yale Divinity School and was ordained to the Congregational ministry in 1894. His first pastorate was in South Royalton and Royalton, where he remained until 1899, then removing to West Concord, N. H. At the time of his death he was pastor of the Congregational church in North Reading, Mass. Mr. Goddard was married in 1895 to Lena A. Sargent of Ludlow, who, with three children, survives him. He was a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity and of Phi Beta Kappa.

Attention Alumni.

James B. Gooding ex-'05, whose address is R. D. 6, Vancouver, Wash., inquires whether any alumni of Middlebury are planning to attend the convention of the National Education Association at Portland, Ore., in July. If so, he would like to meet them and arrange for Middlebury fellowship some time during the sessions of the association.

COLLEGE NOTES.

Dean Charles B. Wright has resumed his college duties after a vacation spent in the southern states and Washington.

On May 10, Professor Skillings of the German Department went to Boston to attend a meeting of the New England Modern Language Association.

Wilfred E. Davison '13 of the College German Department has just recovered from the German measles.

The senior girls now have senior tables at Battell cottage and the juniors are presiding over the other tables in the dining hall.

A meeting of the senior class was held Saturday, May 12. Harold M. Davis was elected as president for the remainder of the year to take the place of John Reynolds who resigned.

Friday afternoon, May 18, at an open meeting of the Apollo Club, Ruth A. Hesselgrave gave a very interesting account of the "Circus Maximus" held at Brattleboro. Programs of the entertainment were given out, and each event described in order. At the close of her talk she was plied with questions about the affair, which everyone decided must have been most enjoyable.

Announcement has been received of the marriage at Forestdale, Vt., on May 16 of Ruth E. Avery, ex-'19 to Harold M. Sperry of Cornwall. Miss Lucy Smith '18 acted as bridesmaid. Miss Eleanor Layton attended as a guest.

At the Y. M. C. A. meeting Wednesday, May 16, the following were elected as an advisory committee: Professor Sanford, chairman, Professor Bonney, and Professor Lawrence. The purpose of this committee will be, not to manage the affairs of the association directly, but to give advice and suggest plans in connection with the work.

Caroline Buttolph' 13 has been teaching in Brandon during the illness of the principal, Earle Tracey '13.

Dorothy Norton '19 had as a week-end guest at her home in Rutland Bessie Jennings '18.

Leslie Shedd '18 is studying at the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, Ill.

The temporary permits of Winford Heath and Channing Green for farm service have been extended until the end of the present college year.

EXCHANGE NOTES

The students at the University of Washington are attempting to "economize" on the paper they use. Consequently they have circulated a petition to force instructors to shorten their lectures while the price of loose-leaf paper is at its present height.—The Bates Student.

We are sorry that the students at Washington are so short of cash. It appears to be another example of human nature common to all collegians.

"Have you ever noticed what the profs do to amuse themselves while they are lecturing to a class?" asks the Indiana Daily Student. Their flow is sometimes as uninteresting to them as it is to the listener, and they have to amuse themselves. One here has a little rubber band on his book, and when the bell rings that band goes around his finger and he plays while the class sits around and wishes that they had a rubber band. Another wiggles a waste-basket with his foot and a pencil with his hand. Some try to climb the stairs. Others play with their eyeglasses. Others take exercise up and down the platform, and some play with what sounds like money, but that is impossible, as professors are not supposed to have any.—The Lawrentian.

That the Bates Student sometimes combines real humor with 'cold' facts is clearly shown by the following quotation.

"Let us hope that the contents of the Bates coal bin will last for the remainder of the winter. It has not yet been suggested that our Commencement be in the form of an Ice Carnival. We throw out the hint to forestall a possible suggestion of such a nature."

A well known student consistently maintained in an argument the other day that education never made a fool of anyone. Numerous examples were cited to him of students who were fools. On second thought he will concede that education may lend emphasis.

easy grounder. A second grounder, Dewhirst to Freeland, and a third, Ahern to Freeland, retired Vermont. The second half saw Middlebury go out in short order. Freeland was out at first, Pollard's drive was intercepted by the short stop and he was out at first. Ahearn fanned out.

Vermont made two runs in the fifth, Palmer singled and scored on Hamilton's three bagger to center field. Berry was out, Parker to Freeland, but Dewhirst failed to stop Plumb's grounder, Berry coming home from third. Bowman struck out and Pike flied out to center.

Parker flied out to left field, Courtney was out at first and Maul struck out.

The sixth inning opened with Crippen pitching in Parker's place. Crippen placed two strikeouts to his credit, the third out being made by Deufel catching a foul tip.

In the second half Dewhirst reached first, his fly to left being muffed, but three outs followed in close succession.

The seventh opened with U. V. M. getting a man on first, another hit to Crippen and Crippen to second threw the runner out at second with the man at first safe. Maul caught a fly for the second out and Crippen to first added the third.

Ahern reached first on his hit to left field after Pollard struck out. Crippen struck out and Courtney flied out.

The first of the eighth Crippen registered two strikeouts. The next man reached first on a hit to right field, but after a grounder to center field was out at third, Bartlett to Maul.

In the ninth Middlebury showed her usual form in playing Vermont. The bases were filled by Hackett's and Palmer's singles followed by an infield hit by Hamilton. Berry bunted to Freeland, Hackett and Palmer scoring in the mixup. Plumb went out, Crippen to first, but Hamilton scored when Dewhirst dropped Bowman's fly and made a wild throw home, Berry resting on third and Bowman on second. Pike flied out to center, Berry ran home followed by Bowman, and a wild throw home would have counted for five runs, but Berry was out for leaving the base before the fly was caught.

Middlebury ended the game by going out in order.

used as homes and schools for crippled soldiers, and hospitals are everywhere. Taxicabs, though from an American point of view very cheap and plentiful, are much scarcer than before the war, and if the drivers were not limited to a certain small amount of gasolene each day, they would make a small fortune. There is not a traffic officer in all Paris now, and one takes one's life in hand when crossing the street, though accidents are very rare. I have bought a few things which I found would be necessary, viz: a slip-over-the-head raincoat and cap which I got for a song from a Norton man who is going home, a searchlight and extra batteries, and a pair of spiral puttees(my leather ones were a very bad fit). I am leaving at 8 o'clock tonight for Toulon, and thence by boat to Saloniki. I understand it is about a twelve days' trip. My address will be care of the American Consul, Saloniki.

Apollo Club.

At a meeting of the Apollo Club Monday afternoon, May 14, Professor Sanford gave an illustrated lecture on "The Greatest Painting in the World", that on the ceiling of the Sistine chapel in Rome, painted by Michælangelo Buonarrotti.

The story connected with this great painting is romantic. A rival of Michælangelo's had persuaded the pope to give to Michælangelo the task of painting the ceiling of the chapel, thinking that he being a sculptor by profession rather than a painter, would refuse, and thus bring disgrace upon himself. The maliciousness of the plot aroused the spirit of determination for which Michælangelo was noted. He accepted the challenge, and worked industriously at the great undertaking for more than four years. When the staging was taken down and the public admitted to see the artist's triumph, his friends were amazed and his enemies confounded at the beauty and magnitude of the painting.

Serious difficulties attended the work. The ceiling was arched, so that the artist not only had to work in an awkward position, but he had to paint his figures in such a way as to make them appear normal to one looking at them from the floor of the chapel. This involved difficult problems in perspective. In addition, the building was poorly lighted and damp. The artist's assistants were so inefficient that he soon discharged them and carried on his work alone. Yet in spite of all obstacles he left a work which is the admiration and wonder of all who behold it.

The artist's plan was to divide the ceiling into nine panels, each panel depicting a Biblical scene, starting with the separation of the light from the darkness, and ending with the drunkenness of Noah.

Around the main painting are grouped various figures representing the ancestors of Christ, the major prophets, sibyls, and genii.

One is impressed not only by the strength and energy portrayed in the figures but also by the atmosphere of tragedy which seems to pervade them.

To understand this tragic touch, it is necessary to remember first, that men's minds at that time dwelt much upon thoughts of the last judgment and the end of the world, and secondly, that Michælangelo himself was by nature gloomy and unhappy. It is evident that as he worked day after day at his lonely task his mind was constantly brooding over the riddle of existence and the problem of human sin and suffering, so that the great painting seems to be the expression of the pain in the artist's own soul.

More Midd. Students Leave.

In accordance with the custom established last week in The Campus, a statement is here given regarding those who have left college recently. As there are so many leaving now, mostly for patriotic duties, a list will be published each week. It is hoped that students will co-operate in keeping us in touch with changes of address of those who have left.

The first detachment of men from Middlebury College to report for duty in the United States Naval Reserve Corps were called out last week. The men are Irving Eastman, Harry Hyde, and A. P. Benedict. They are to report at Charlestown Navy Yard and will probably be sent either to Marblehead or Gallups Island for training. The other members of the Naval Reserve Corps expect to be called out in a few days.

On Friday, four men left to attend the Harvard Reserve Officers' Training Camp at Cambridge, Mass. They are Frederick Lang, Ridgley Lee, Stanley Wright, and Raymond Mudge. Theodore Dewhirst and Rowland Ricker also left for the Harvard camp on Monday.

Among those who have recently left for farm duty are Paul Pitkin, Middlebury; Lawrence D. Havens, Chester; Leland Fanning, Laurel, N. Y.; Richard Ruether, Williamstown, Mass.; and James Noble, Benson. At the meeting of the Administration Board last Wednesday afternoon, Miss Vina Jillson was granted a permit for farm service at her home in South Vernon, Mass. She is the first woman student who has been granted a release from Middlebury College for farm service.
